Guest Night B, Lyndon Union Club—
Other Social Events of the Week and Personals.

(Mrs. E. J. Blodgett, Correspondent.)
Another guest night of the Lyndon Union club had added to its laurels as an entertainer. On Friday evening the 14th, Music hall was well filled with the members of the club, their husbands and other friends. The hall was very bright and attractive, all the added decorations being on the stage which was draped with hangings of the national colors, and large flags, affording a pleasing background for the orchestra. The entertainer of the evening was Miss Vera Burpee of Boston and music was furnished by Sargent's orchestra of St. Johnsbury and members of the Music circle of the club. After the opening selection by the orchestra, the president, Mrs. John B. Chase, made a graceful speech of welcome in her usual pleasing manner. Miss Burpee then appeared and gave two readings, "Bringing Down the House," and "An Inquisitive Boy." She was a lady of charm and versatility, and in the wide range of her selections, from grave to gay, as much enjoyed by her audience. She was followed by Mrs. L. T. Huntley, who rendered in excellent voice the song "I Know a Lane in Spring-time" by Greene. She was accompanied by Miss Irene Stinson on the piano, and L. H. Curdison on the cello. Miss Burpee then gave a deeply religious selection, "A Dream of the World's Awakening," accompanied by solemn and appropriate music from the orchestra behind the scenes. The Music circle then gave two charming selections, the following members appearing: Mrs. A. L. Leonard, Mrs. L. Q. Eaton, Mrs. J. Hutchinson, Miss Sarah Packard, Mrs. Theodore Harris, Miss Eliza Allen, Miss Dorothy Macdonald, Miss Lois Redmond, Miss Lora Watchie, Mrs. Lonnie Huntley. These ladies all have good voices and have practiced together faithfully until they are able to render most tuneful melodies. As a closing number Miss Burpee gave three short and pleasing selections, "In the Tolls of the Enemy," "Wood," "Dolly's Lament," "Schayer," "Mother's Good-night," "Goodwin." After the orchestra had played the closing number, Mrs. Chase announced that as it was leap year the ladies would line up on the north side of the hall and proceed across the stage where refreshments were to be served. The ladies chose partners for the grand march, which was led by Mr. and Mrs. Chase, there being over 100 couples in line. About two hours of dancing were then enjoyed. The gallery was filled with onlookers and the floor was crowded with dancers, all of whom seemed to have a delightful time and who went home at midnight full of admiration for the social ability of the club. Much credit is due for the success of the occasion, not only to the capable president, Mrs. Chase, but to the members of the social committee, Mrs. Charles Hale, chairman, Mrs. Buckley, Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Gage and Mrs. Barber, who worked so hard and gave so much time and effort to make the social life of the club a success.

The Art circle held their first meeting of the winter Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Eliza Bigelow, Mrs. J. W. Titcomb was the leader. The subject of the year's work is the study of art in dress, and that of the first meeting, art in head dressing and hair arrangement.

The Universalist church and parish hold their annual meeting in the church vestry this evening. There will be a supper at 5:30 for the members of the parish. The pastor, Rev. Clarence A. Simmons, has presented his resignation, to take effect in the spring when he goes to assume the duties of a parish in Barnard. Mr. Simmons and his family have been very well liked and their departure is much regretted.

The Orientals are planning a very enjoyable dance for Thursday evening of this week, which is to be a masquerade party, also a leap year affair.

The next entertainment in the lecture course comes Friday evening of this week, a lecture by L. B. Wicker-shaw.

The epidemic of grip seems to have abated very little, if any, and fresh victims are heard of each day. Among those afflicted we note Misses Nellie Davis and Annie Houghton, who have been confined to the house for several days. Mrs. G. M. Campbell, has been dangerously ill and under the care of Miss Abbie Chapman, but is now better.

Tom Lawson, Charles Lee 1 2
Time 41, 36.

Mrs. A. A. Cheney and Mrs. Edgar Brown were the hostesses of the Mothers' circle at a very pleasant meeting last Thursday evening at the home of the former lady. There were about 40 in attendance. After the roll call, answered by quotations from the "Children's Poets," two piano duets by Mrs. Harry Colby and Miss Doris Colby were much enjoyed. The subject of the evening's program was "Medical Inspection in the Schools" and an article on this subject was read by Mrs. Isherwood. A general discussion followed in which many of the members took part. The musical program was augmented by two pleasing solos sung by Miss Eliza Allen. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

That grand spectacular picture "The Birth of a Nation," appeared in Music hall Wednesday and Thursday of last week, both afternoons and evenings.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.
To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired color. You can put this up of you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken gray hair. It is excellent for falling hair and will make hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

EAST CONCORD
Three Men and a Dog Got Two Foxes After An Exciting Experience.

(Mrs. J. C. McDonald, Correspondent.)
E. A. Morse had some exciting experiences last week, Tuesday, while out fox hunting with Hubbard Fisher and Irving Smith. They chased two foxes into the same den in a steep sand hill back of Modeste King's house, secured tools from Mr. King and went to work to dig out the foxes. They had tunneled a hole as big as a barrel and about 15 feet deep when they heard their dog which was as much as ten feet further in stir up a fox. After calling out the dog, with a fox hook on the end of a long pole they got out the fox. At that time they supposed there was only one fox in the hole but the dog soon let them know there was a second one. It was then getting dark and the tunnel was like midnight but the three men kept on digging like mad when down came tons of sand and gravel. They couldn't hear the dog and supposed he was smothered but kept on digging when down came the avalanche of sand. If the men had been under it they would have been killed without doubt. Supposing the dog must be dead they went home for the night but returned next morning and soon after beginning digging heard the dog. For forty minutes they made the sand fly and when they came in sight of the dog he was lively as ever and entirely unharmed. About two feet from him the men found the other fox. It seems there was an eight foot rope hitched to the dog's collar and the great weight of sand held the rope and kept the dog from getting at the fox. It was a close call for dog and men and they are congratulating themselves that they were able to secure both foxes and still have the dog to help them on their next hunting trip.
